Introductory Module Literature

Inhalt:

The module provides a detailed, in-depth study of key concepts, methods and critical terminology in modern Literary Studies and applies them to a core topic in English Studies. Possible concepts and core topics are:

- the theory and practice of literary criticism, including case studies on the application of critical approaches to literary texts;
- critical discussions of the functions of literary canons; de- and re-canonization, especially in contexts of gender studies or (post)colonialism;
- the historicity of literature and the representation of history (incl. the history of ideas) in literature;
- literature, literary theory and cultural politics;
- concepts of difference and representation in literary theory;
- case studies on contemporary literary theory, e.g., religious and ethical turns;
- the study and problematization of the literary and cultural significance of literary modes and genres.
- detailed study of particular literary movements or periods (e.g. Renaissance, Restoration, Romanticism)

In class (Advanced Seminar), this core topic is contextualized, evaluated from different perspectives, and discussed. In a period of supervised self-directed study/reading assignments, students approach the topic with a narrower, individual focus. They will work on the critical concepts and terminology they use in their research; explore the contexts of their object of study, and read up on current and significant older scholarship conducted in the field.

Lernziele und Kompetenzen:

The aim of the module is to enable students to apply independently, but with supervision, current critical concepts and methods in Literary Studies to a core topic. This will also enhance their skills in the following areas:

- Subject and Practical Skills: Theories and methods are illustrated, applied and problematized by reference to a single core topic in English Studies - both in the context of group work (seminar) and independent study
- Intellectual Skills: In the application of methods and theory, the focus is on the critical reflection of academic description and analysis.
